

CONTENTS

---

Diplomatic History Volume 38, Number 5, November 2014

ARTICLES

- Birthing Empire: Economies of Childrearing and the Formation of American Colonialism in Hawai'i, 1820–1848 895
by Joy Schulz
- The Open Door and U.S. Policy in Iraq between the World Wars 926
by Annie Tracy Samuel
- Fractured Alliance: Anti-Base Protests and Postwar U.S.–Japanese Relations 953
by Jennifer M. Miller
- “The Virgin Mary is Going South”: Refugee Resettlement in South Vietnam, 1954–1956 987
by Jessica Elkind
- Becoming “Mr. Latin America”: Thomas C. Mann Reconsidered 1017
by Thomas Tunstall Allcock
- “Quiet Americans in India”: The CIA and the Politics of Intelligence in Cold War South Asia 1046
by Paul Michael McGarr
- China’s Last Ally: Beijing’s Policy toward North Korea during the U.S.–China Rapprochement, 1970–1975 1083
by Yafeng Xia and Zhibua Shen
- The Nuclearization of Iran in the Seventies 1114
by Jacob Darwin Hamblin
- The “Pictures in Our Heads”: Journalists, Human Rights, and U.S.–South Korean Relations, 1970–1976 1136
by Patrick Chung
- ### BOOK REVIEWS
- The Great Unknown 1156
by Eliga H. Gould
- The German Love Affair With American Empire 1158
by Mischa Honeck

---

(CONTINUED)

Isolationists Amok	1161
by Adriane Lentz-Smith
Interwar Internationalism and Imperialism; or, Taking Idealism Seriously	1164
by Julia F. Irwin
Trial by Fire War	1167
by David Zierler
Historicizing the Black Atlantic	1169
by Ryan Irwin
Superpower Agency and the 1973 Arab–Israeli War	1172
by Paul T. Chamberlin	